“Paolo Saracco makes a fine expression of Pinot Noir in a region that is otherwise associated with the mighty Nebbiolo grape. The 2015 Piemonte Pinot Nero is a delicate and graceful wine that delivers a stern grip on the finish. The bouquet seduces with wild flower, candied fruit and dried violets. But the mouthfeel offers more structure and firmness than you would normally expect of this silky and subdued grape variety. This is a lovely wine to drink in the near term.”
